Academic Events Report: Welcome Program for Newcomers

Introduction

Amda Institute of Health Science hosted a grand program on 2081/8/12 to welcome our newest batch students of PCL Nursing, General Medicine, CMLT, and Physiotherapy. The event was structured to be both informative and entertaining, ensuring that students feel comfortable and introducing them to the academic environment.

The program began with national anthem. Following this, a heartfelt welcome speech was delivered by General Medicine 2nd year student Jonish Khapangi, who extended their warm greetings to the new students. The speech emphasized the institution's commitment to providing quality education and nurturing future healthcare professionals. Different cultural programs were presented by the senior students that left the audience spellbound.

The principal of the college, Ms. Pramila Dewan, then addressed the gathering with a welcoming speech. The principal highlighted the unique opportunities and challenges that lie ahead for the students and encouraged them to make the most of their academic journey. She also emphasized the importance of hard work, dedication and ethical conduct in the field of healthcare.

Each students were individually honored with the traditional Nepali custom of applying Tika and khada. The program concluded with a student president's speech of Mr Akash Shah by stating best wishes and bright future to the new students.

Conclusion

The welcome program served as an excellent platform to introduce the new students to the college community and set the stage for a successful academic journey. The event was a evidence to the college's commitment to providing a holistic educational experience, about academic excellence, cultural enrichment, and community engagement.
